The beaches, the food, the music, the people – what's not to love in Jamaica?

Sipping some of the best coffee in the world on a quiet beach in Negril, climbing the cascading waters of Dunn's River Falls, or lazily coasting down the Martha Brae River near Montego Bay, everything is a memorable experience in Jamaica.

Even though the country is a hotspot for tourists, there are still little quiet corners to explore like the lush Blue Mountains or Cockpit Country, which has been described as one of the most untouched areas in the West Indies.
